Reflections on the High Holy Days

by Rabbi Ari Sunshine

For me the most memorable ritual moment is probably the Kol Nidre prayer itself, with its threefold repetition and solemn and unforgettable melody that I've heard for so many years now. But for me, what makes our High Holy Days such a beautiful time of year is the people. It is so exciting to see so many members of our Shearith community and their families here connecting with each other, with the clergy, with their Jewish souls, and with God. I love the Torah Procession and the receiving line at the end of services when I get to see your warm and smiling faces and shake your hands or give you a hug of welcome. Your presence in our community and at our services is proof to me that Am Yisrael Chai, the people of Israel yet lives.

by Rabbi Adam Roffman

This was a tremendous season of awe for our community. We introduced so many well received new initiatives, The Ladder Project, a more inclusive system of giving out honors, and much, much more. But for me, the best part was watching our community take part in the remembrance ritual that we created. We wanted to send the message, as soon as folks walked in the door, that the story of their year mattered a great deal to us. The post-it notes allowed us all to see each other in such a beautiful and creative way, and yet, allowed each member a private moment of reflection that ushered them into the sanctuary with purpose.

by Rabbi Shira Wallach

This is such a special time of year for me and there are so many highlights, but one of my favorite moments is standing next to my mother, calling out the shofar blasts and listening to the tremendous and inspiring sounds she creates with this beautiful and ancient instrument. I got to enjoy this moment twice—at the family service on Day 1 of Rosh Hashanah and at the Re(new) service on Day 2. How awesome it has been for our daughter, Hannah, to watch us both up there.

by Avi Mitzner

This was really a very special High holy Days for me. I loved davening out of our new Mahzor Lev Shalem and including the Imahot in our prayers. I enjoyed the opportunity to once again take part in our Re(new) service on the 2nd day of Rosh Hashanah. But what really touched me was hearing from members, including some life-long members, who found true meaning in receiving the honor to open the Ark for the very first time. Helping our members feel loved, embraced and honored by our community in this most holy time of the year was especially meaningful.

The Ladder Project

Meet David Corn

David is a 58-year-old resident of The Bridge, Dallas' 24-hour, downtown homeless facility. After 17 months of homelessness, David is about to move into his own studio apartment. Thanks to you – the members of Congregation Shearith Israel.

A unique, holistic approach to Homelessness

On September 18, during Kol Nidre services, Shearith Israel launched The Ladder Project, a pilot program that approaches the problem of chronic homelessness in a unique and holistic way. The Ladder Project empowers our 1,000 congregant families to lift one person at a time out of homelessness. As a congregation, we will take responsibility for this person financially and socially until he or she can accomplish self-sufficiency, however long that may take, so long as that person is making progress. During this time The Bridge will continue to provide caseworker services.

The Executive Committee, Jeff Hoppenstein, Larry Krasner, Marsha Lev, Laura Miller, Andrea Solka and Sally Wolfish, selected David to help first, with the hope and expectation that many others will follow.

David's Story

David was born in Oak Cliff. His father worked at the local box factory for thirty-eight years. His mother, a homemaker, was the only true constant in David's life, supporting him with unconditional love. David graduated from Kimball High School in 1978. With no money for college or technical school, he began a lifetime of short-lived, dead-end jobs that, combined with unsuccessful personal relationships, found him returning to his parents' house again and again throughout his adult years.

In December 2011, David's life was shattered when his parents were in a car accident that killed his mother and left his father physically and cognitively injured. David became his father's full-time caregiver. The two men subsisted on David's father's pension of $600 per month.

In November 2013 the police knocked on the door and arrested David for failing to appear in court for a child support case for his 15-year-son. David says he told the police that his father was alone and disabled and would not survive without someone to care for him.

David's best friend is his Bridge caseworker, Paige Furst. David has learned from her that the path to self-sufficiency is "to get a job and keep it." David has followed this advice. After washing dishes at a bar in Deep Ellum, David moved to his current janitorial job at El Centro College in downtown Dallas. He earns $9 an hour, some of which is automatically deducted from his paycheck to fulfill his court-ordered child-support obligation to his son Jordan, now 20.

Until now, David had little chance of making it on his own: his low hourly wage and high child support payments made saving money nearly impossible; an apartment – with utility bills, a security deposit, and furnishings to buy – was a remote dream. When the synagogue offered to help, David called it "a secret miracle."

"When you dream of a better life, what does it look like?"

David answered, "When I lay my head down on the pillow at night, I see myself waking up in the morning in my own bed, in my own home, showering and dressing in my own bathroom, walking into my own kitchen, making myself a cup of coffee, and going to work."

Together, we will make David's dream come true.

With no way to contact his father, since there was no landline at home, and no phone numbers memorized for his sister or other relatives, David was unable to help his father, or himself. David sat in jail for 110 days. No one visited him during that time. David says, upon his release, he found a cousin had moved his father out of their home and put the house on the market. Unable to hire a lawyer, David lost all legal rights to the home he grew up in. His father died within a year, in a nursing home. David lived temporarily with a neighbor, sleeping on his couch, then took a bus to The Bridge, where he has lived ever since.

Congregant Michael Ochstein stepped forward as the first part of that miracle, agreeing to rent a $705-a-month studio apartment to David with no security deposit, credit history, or rent history required. Additionally, Michael made a generous contribution to The Ladder Project of $5,000. Although David's name is on the lease, Shearith has agreed to supplement David's income enough to cover his rent, utility bills, and public transportation until he can pay for all of it himself. David will attend a financial management class every Saturday morning in October and share his paystubs and expense receipts with the synagogue.

You Can Help

Most importantly, we are looking for congregants who can offer David a higher paying job at a Living Wage of $12 to $15/hour. This will be the key to his transition to self-sufficiency.

Let's start with $36. Our goal is to get 100% of all Shearith Israel families to contribute to a Housing/Transportation Fund set up specifically for The Ladder Project. This money will go to help David and other homeless people who we will help in the future. All donations are charitable and tax-exempt. You can donate online or mail in a personal check, earmarked for The Ladder Project.

You can also make in-kind donations and purchase items to outfit David's apartment through a special registry on the synagogue's website

One other crucial opportunity is to give David a sense that people care that he succeeds. You can drive David to a Shabbat dinner at shul, take him for lunch or coffee on an evening or weekend, or just call him on the phone and say hello. Studies show that feeling isolated and lonely leads directly to homeless recidivism.

Opportunities to meet with David are also on the website.

David looks forward to thanking congregants for their help in starting his new life.

May this be the start of a healthy and spiritually fulfilling New Year for us all!

More Social Action News

The Social Action Committee invites you to make a difference. We started off the New Year with our annual food drive to stock the pantry at JFS. Coming up is book drive followed by the construction and installation of a Little Free Library in West Dallas. You can drop off new and used books for children and adults at the Shearith reception desk. Construction on the Little Free Library starts mid-October. We will need help from our handy, and tool-owning congregants! Installation takes place at the West Dallas campus of Literacy Achieves, which is a non-profit organization dedicated to teaching English as a Second Language (ESL) to immigrants and refugees who are eager to contribute to the community. Literacy Achieves also provides an on-site day-care and preschool. The installation and dedication will take place one Sunday in November.

As we segue into colder weather, on Sunday, January 6, we will make sandwiches to feed hungry, homeless adults at the Austin Street Shelter. Last year we made over 1,900 sandwiches, but with your help we can break 2,000! We will also collect chips, fruit and water.

Odd Mom Out

Tickets on sale now!

Jill Kargman comes to Shearith Israel
Wednesday, November 7 | 8 pm

Enjoy a night of sparkling conversation and humor with author, actress and writer, Jill Kopelman Kargman. A born and bred New Yorker, Jill Kargman age 43, is the creator, writer, producer and star of the scripted comedy “Odd Mom Out” in which Ms. Kargman played a satirical version of herself navigating the hilarity of raising children on the upper east side in NYC.

Ms. Kargman attended The Spence School, The Taft School and Yale University. After graduating, and working for magazines, television and movies, Jill began writing novels to give her more flexibility to be home with her three children: Sadie, Ivy, and Fletch. She is a New York Times best-selling author of multiple books, and her most recent book, a comedic essay collection, “Sprinkle Glitter on my Grave”, was published in September 2016 by Random House.

She made her Café Carlyle debut in January 2017 with her sold out show Stairway to Cabaret ~ singing heavy metal songs ~ cabaret style. Jill hosts the Jill Kargman show on SiriusXM Stars Channel 109.

The moderator for the evening is Mark Oppenheimer, host of the #1 Jewish-themed podcast on iTunes, Unorthodox, an irreverent weekly take on the “news of the Jews.”

Our Committee, Dawn Aaron, Barbra Applebaum, Courtney Goldberg, Lauran Goldberg, Lisa Goldberg, Beth Konig, Ann Ochstein, Elaine Pearlman, Jody Stein and Lisa Zale, invites you to support our Special Event.

Shearith Israel Youth!

Review of High Holy Days Camp ...

Paige Schnabel: We love the High Holy Days Camp, knowing that Leo is with friends and his beloved teacher. The camp gives us all a chance to focus on the religious experience of the holiday in our own way. Leo especially enjoyed the crafts, games and playground time. We especially enjoyed having quality time in the sanctuary.

Karen Ranen: Services with Morah Malka are always amazing!!! She manages to keep all the kids excited about the holiday and prayers. This year there was even a little play about Jonah and the Whale or Big Fish. One kid felt strongly that it was not a whale (but a big fish) and Morah Malka did not miss a beat – just started referring to it as a whale or big fish. We loved the program and are really pleased with all the work Sherith is doing to make kids of all ages feel welcome and be able to interact with the services. Yasher Koach!!!

Natalie Waldman: High Holy Day Camp at Shearith Israel was outstanding this year. Not only did my kids learn, but they thoroughly enjoyed themselves during the hours they were there. The Jewish Apples to Apples game was a huge hit during Yom Kippur as was the making of the Rosh HaShanah jars. The lessons were valuable, focused and understood. Well done to all the staff!

Rachel Alexander: This was our first year to spend the High Holy Days at Shearith, and so it was the first for our kids to experience the programs as well. As parents, we were blown away at how organized and thoughtful the entire experience was. The Family Service was beautifully lead, and in a way that kept the kids interested and engaged. The camp programming was extremely well thought out, and our kids loved rotating rooms/stations (especially loving those Rosh Hashana jars!).... they ASKED to go back. That's a first in our house, for sure. Kudos to Sarah Lipinsky and her awesome staff for a wonderful way to start the New Year!
